FIVE THINGS TO DO, LEARN AND SEE THIS MONTH

2. Let's talk Recognition

National Reconciliation week is taking place this year from 27 May to 3 June. The week is a time for us all to come together to reflect and learn about our shared histories, cultures and achievements and to explore how each of us can contribute to the national reconciliation effort. This year's theme is 'Let's Talk Recognition'. Events are being held across the country but you can also organise your own. For ideas and more information visit the reconciliation.org.au website.

1. Surfing Titles back on

After a 16-year hiatus, the Australian Indigenous Surfing Titles were revived in 2012 to massive success. This year, Surfing Victoria will again host the titles at beautiful Bells Beach in Victoria. The event runs from Sunday, 26 May to Friday, 31 May 2013 and will see 32 Indigenous surfers from around the country competing. An opening ceremony will be held on the Sunday at Bells Beach. For entry and prize details, go to www.surfindg.australia.com

3. Kidney Health Week

One in three Australians is at risk of contracting kidney disease. If it goes undetected and untreated, kidney disease can be a silent killer. This year Kidney Awareness Week runs from Sunday, 26 May to Saturday, 1 June, and communities across Australia will 'turn red' to raise awareness of the impact of kidney disease.

If you'd like to host an event in your community, free event packs containing posters and balloons are available from Kidney Health Australia. www.kidney.org.au

4. Torres Strait Art on Show

Don't miss the Performative Prints exhibition of Torres Strait Islander artwork now showing at the Arts Centre Melbourne. The exhibition showcases dynamic and theatrical work by three prominent artists: Alick Tipoti, Brian Robinson, Ricardo Idagi, and includes enormous prints, elaborate masks and headdresses along with an extensive range of performance objects. Performative Prints is on now at Gallery 1 until 23 June. www.artscentre.melbourne.com.au

5. 3on3 events coming your way

The Vibe 3on3[®] is a travelling sport and music festival that brings together Indigenous and non-Indigenous people for a fun day of basketball, dancing and music. The event encourages sportsmanship, teaches new skills and builds self-esteem, as well as promoting reconciliation at a grassroots level. It features a 3on3 basketball round-robin, rapping and breakdancing lessons, art workshops, a dance competition and a health expo, all accompanied by a backing track of the latest RnB, hip hop and Indigenous music. This month the Vibe 3on3[®] heads to Port Augusta, SA, on Friday, 17 May and to Bunbury, WA, on Friday, 24 May. For more info and to download a registration form, head to www.vibe.com.au

This month, the Australian Indigenous Surfing Titles will be held at Bells Beach in Victoria.

Russell Molony won the title last year.

ACTIVITY 1

WHICH OF THESE THINGS BELONG TOGETHER?
